1. A loose surface, graded, all weather road #903 runs from Vallaj westward to Kyrbator. The same type of a loose surface, graded, all weather road #903 runs from Vallaj southward to the Hungarian-Rumanian border, which is located approximately five kilometers south of Vallaj. Both roads are over two lanes wide and have a good solid road bed. The top layer consists of crushed rock surfaced with sand. The terrain over which the roads run is level. Both roads are designed for heavy usage.
2. A loose surface, all weather road #909 runs from Vallaj northward to Mateszalka and Luk. It is approximately one lane in width and has a fairly good solid road bed. The top layer is of crushed rock surfaced with sand. Occasionally the road is able to absorb heavy usage. A periodic maintenance of the road is required.
3. A number of loose surface, dry weather, dirt roads #935 run in the vicinity of Vallaj, Kocsord and Luk. The dirt roads have a poor foundation and are over one lane in width. These roads occasionally are able to absorb heavy usage. Continual maintenance of the dirt roads is required and is performed by the villagers. Occasionally after a heavy rain or in spring when the snow melts the dirt roads have to be drained and graded.
4. Whenever the dirt roads become potholed or deeply rutted easier to get off and drive alongside the road on the fields. The dirt roads are not crowned for any drainage.
